AIR SCOUTS

Radio Program Log 1927 to 1929

One of Marian and Jim Jordan's earliest regular radio programs was a sustained thirty-minute children's series titled AIR SCOUTS. This program of stories, songs, and skits was broadcast over Chicago's WENR, six nights per week at 7:00 pm for approximately the first 327 programs. Then, the program was shifted to five nights per week, 5:00 to 5:30 pm. AIR SCOUTS premiered the first Monday of October, 1927, and the Jordans continued as principal actors through 1929.

According to Jim Jordan in a personal interview in July of 1980, he and Marian had a wonderful time with this program, but had a complex schedule and found it necessary to step out of AIR SCOUTS. While starring on the SMITH FAMILY and several other radio programs on three different stations, they also owned, managed, and performed their own vaudeville company four nights per week (Thursday through Sunday). After completing an AIR SCOUTS skit, or a SMITH FAMILY program at 5:30 pm, the Jordans would move on to the theater that evening to perform their vaudeville acts.

When the Jordans did step aside in December of 1929, they were replaced by two other WENR staff actors, Irma Glenn and Everett Mitchell. The program's title was changed as well to AIR JUNIORS and continued entertaining Chicago's children for several years into the 30's, still at 5:00 pm, five nights per week.

It is worthy to note that the Jordans built a repertoire of dozens of voices in those early years. Most notable was Marian's little girl voice which she continued to use in SMACKOUT from 1931 to 1935, and most notably as "Teeny" in FIBBER MCGEE AND MOLLY, 1935 to 1959. AIR SCOUTS was one of the Jordan's early proving grounds that would build their combined character and establish them as indelible stars in the minds and imaginations of America's radio listening audience.
